

Kyla Woodzell is a Gartner Sr. Account Executive and former executive consultant with a distinguished career in C-Level consulting and information technology. With a deep expertise in working with the DoD, VC firms and Fortune 500 companies in information technology, human capital, competitive intelligence, and media monitoring, Kyla has been instrumental in helping some of the world's largest companies gain visibility, harness data, and drive growth. Currently, she focuses on helping the Marine Corps solve complex mission challenges, delivering solutions that enhance mission success while prioritizing what matters most—their people.